

we must free

take all you know and put it on a paper airplane send it out above the sea and watch it dance with the waves and crash and disintegrate watch it crash
and disintegrate
this is your life
passing in front of you
this is your life
passing

the nothingness you are left with is yours to fill complete yourself with love in this
this is your life
this is your
this is your life
passing crash and disintegrate crashing and disintegrating in front of you give up the desire to remember detach yourself from the story the story that you have made the past is a lie through the lens of the present we must free ourselves from the characters

we have ourselves created

